SEVERAL SPEAKERS HEARD ON PROHIBITION QUESTION Afternoon and Evening Sessions Held in Bill Block, Arranged by E. Alli-

A school of practical politics for New London county was held on Tues-day afternoon and evening in room 2, Bill block under the auspices of the New London county prohibitionists, with an afternoon session from 1.30 to 5 and an evening session from 7.30 to 9.30. The papers and addresses with discussions following covered their topics at length and in an informing way.

topics at length and in an informing way.

Rev. Eugene B. Smith of Lebanon was the presiding officer in the afternoon, reminding his hearers in his opening remarks that this was Lexington and Concord day and that the prohibition party was to interpret liberty in a new way, liberty from corruption and graft which people are no longer willing to tolerate, and that men were to be judged by what they do, not by what they say.

How to Increase the Circulation of Party Papers was the topic for a discussion led by William Thomas Curry of Lebanon and was followed by Edward Pollard of Stonington on the subject, Why a Prohibition Party? He developed the point that the prohibition party is a necessity, as both the republican and democratic parties are license parties and cannot have the license parties and cannot have the support of advocates of prohibition.

Methods of Enlisting Young Men in Party Building was taken up by Jason L. Randall of Groton and was followed by a well rendered recitation, The Hero of the Tower, by Miss Har-riet E. Hewitt of Lebanon.

Local Option a Hindrance. Frederick L. Hall of Westerly and John M. Dorman of Stratford were the speakers upon the topic of Local Option. Mr. Hall was opposed to local option because it left the big cities as the centers of the liquor power, and he declared that the efforts of the anti-saloon advocates had made no net result in the liquor traffic. They were working along the line of least resistance. He dwelt upon the need of a ance. He dwelt upon the need of a great leader for the party, to be raised up by the hand of God.

Mr. Dorman dealt with the good results attained by the state wide prohibition law in 1855 and 1856, giving the testimony of governors of the state as to its beneficial effects. Local option, he said, was the result of republican party politics, for any political party which has the power of control over legislation can justly be held responsible with any public policy during their period of control. The selling and manufacture of liquor is a moral wrong and about it there should be no alternative nor should it be left to a show of hands. For party prohibitionists to transfer effort and means to the local option plan is to defer the day of success for the

to defer the day of success for the prohibition party plan. What the Legislature Did. After another reading, Whistling in Heaven, by Miss Hewitt, Emil L. G. Hohenthal of South Manchester, chairman of the Connecticut prohibition executive committee, spoke upon The State Legislature. He said in part:

The last general assembly was considered by those, who by long experience in legislative matters were competent to judge, to have been above the average, and yet when we consider some of the measures which were defeated we have been wondering ever since. Why?

since, Why?

Though there were many Christian men in the legislature of 1909, and quite a number who were leaders in men in the legislature of 1909, and quite a number who were leaders in the church, it was an exceedingly rare thing to hear an appeal based on the high obligations resting on its members to conserve the morals of their people and their constituents.

Scores, of bills were introduced for the protection of rabbits, wood duck, fish and innumerable other game, and many of them enacted with severe penalties, but the protection of the homes of our people and our boys and girls seemed often very remote from the minds of our legislators.

As regards prohibition legislation passed in 1908. That which stands perhaps conspicuous is the closing of saloons on Christmas day. This was for accomplished easily, although one would suppose that the day which we commemorate as the natal day of our Divine Lord, the liquor traffic would be willing to keep their hands of. To the credit of some liquor dealers, this was true, but not so with the brewers. Closing saloons at 10 p. m. was enacted, but towns still have the option to keep open until 12 p. m.

Turned Down Request for Prohibition

Turned Down Request for Prohibition The request for the privilege of vot-

The request for the privilege of voting for a state wide prohibition bill, though endorsed by over 9,000 signers, was turned down in cold blood by our republican legislature with the remark of your own Senator Bradford of Montville of the Twentieth district, who, when making his report, and pressed to give the reason for his unfavorable report, replied that "the committee did not believe it could be enforced."

trust there are, I want to say to you that Senator Bradford's fellow citizen of Montville, Hon. Charles S. Com-stock, chairman of the democratic state stock, chairman of the democratic state committee, appeared as counsel for Norwich liquor dealers for a change in the law which would have permitted the continuance of the saloons in the rear of the Methodist Episcopal church in this city, if Norwich had voted no-license last fell. Such a bill was favorably reported and passed, but vetoed by the governor.

The hext legislature is now in the making, though the election is six months hence. The agents of Senator Bulkeley and former Gov. George P. McLean are laying their plans and making their deals and alliances for the votes of the men who are to rep-

After Voters of the Small Towns.

With these two men seeking for votes in the legislature, it will be of the utmost importance what sort of men go to Hartford next January, and the conflict will be in our small towns. The membership in the state senate is another vital question of which the towns of New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport, New Britain, and Meriden will furnish fourteen members, while Norwich. New London, Stamford, Greenwich and Danbury have a prepondering vote in choosing five more; this number is sufficient to hinder or pass any measure they unite upon. Here is where the railroad, telephone and liquor lobby put in their heaviest work, because it requires but a small number of votes to pass or reject a bill once it has left the house. 10,000 Prohibition oVtes Next Election

For those who desire prohibition legislation for the liquor traffic, we submit that the surest and quickest way to get is to give our party ticket 10,000 votes in the next election. With both the republican and democratic parties committed to the license policy, with the political leaders either in open alliance or in sympathy and co-operation with the brewers and liquor dealers or else silent on the question, there is little likelihood of any great advance on prohibition lines. The truth is that if a state prohibition bill were passed it would be largely discredited by many-of the officials being recreant to their oath of office in enforcing the same. But a vote of 10,000 for the prohibition ticket in Connecticut will insure some radical and strong measprohibition ticket in Connecticut will insure some radical and strong measures being passed. So, my friends, let our motto be "Prohibition with prohibition officials to enforce the law," and see to it that your town does its share which should be about four times as many votes cast in 1908 for the prohibition ticket.

With such a vote we would have no trouble in urging and securing a coun-trouble in arging and securing a county prohibition law, under which probably one-half if not two-thirds of our counties would vote dry. This law should not be an option law, but a prohibition law by which the brewery and distillery as well as the saloon would be permanently prohibited. Other laws that could be passed would close saloons on holidays as in Massachusetts; would keep them closed sachusetts; would keep them closed public service was held, at which there and distillery as well as the saloon would be permanently prohibited. Other laws that could be passed would close saloons on holidays as in Massachusetts; would keep them closed until 7 a. m.; would secure the repeal of the judge's certificate law by which law breaking saloon keepers get a new lease of life; but for the man who believes license is wrong in principle there is no other alternative than to vote for candidates and party that are in harmony with those views, and not throw your votes away by voting for an otherwise good man who is the candidate of a party whose policy and purpose is to license and protect the most iniquitous traffic under the American flag.

So, my friends, go back to your town determined to work and vote for the election of men who will yote to prohibit the traffic, rather than permit it for money to continue its awful work.

for money to continue its awful work.

The afternoon session closed with prayer by Mr. Curry.

Evening Session.

For the meeting in the evening, Rev. C. A. Northrop presided. An opening selection was played by the Parker orchestra, Louis A. Frazier offered prayer, and Stephen E. Peckham rendered a solo. Mr. Peckham also read his instructive paper upon The Loyal Citigen and His Politics, and this was followed by an address by State Chairman Hohenthal, who spoke particularly upon the aid that was accruing to prohibition cause through the recent scientific findings upon the nature of alcohol, as shown in the reports from the medical congress in ture of alcohol, as shown in the reports from the medical congress in London recently. Both speakers were

ABANDONED IT For the Old Fashioned Coffee Was

"I always drank coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table.

I walked up a hill it gave me a severe pain.

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be caused by coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am now glad to say that I am entirely well of the heart trouble and attribute the relief to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum.

"A number of my friends have abandoned the old fashioned coffee and have taken up with Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if it is boiled long enough, according to directions. It is a very 'delklous beverage. We have never used any of the old fashioned coffee since Postum was first started in our house."
